This fun, comforting book is a world unto itself!

It's Saturday morning! No school for Billy Bobby, so he sets out to explore his city. The bus passes by the quiet school. Page after page, he wanders among mushroom houses and hanging gardens, past hospital, zoo, and pool before reaching the cake-house where a little party is underway... Each page reveals a different, topsy-turvy world full of tiny creatures and characters busy about their lives, going in and out of the whimsical buildings – plenty for kids to pore over!

To children, cities can be too big of a world, one they struggle to understand. This book features activities suited to their scale and pace, fun-filled and comforting: a world in which they can safely immerse themselves.
