An essential read to help us better understand the workings of post-traumatic memory, and the possibility of psychically rebuilding the self afterwards.

One day, on her way home from school, 9-year-old Adélaïde falls prey to a pedophile. She and her parents report the crime to the police. Years pass. Her family tries to forget. But for Adélaïde, life will never be the same. Throughout her youth she suffers from depression, undergoing every kind of therapy until she finally meets an extraordinary woman who specializes in post-traumatic memory. 23 years after the incident, the police call. The case has been reopened and a man arrested. In Spring 2016, at the Palais de Justice, Adélaïde confronts the man who destroyed her life.
