No one is born a woman. You become one, with help from kindly female figures who've lived through great struggles.

Growing up and asserting yourself, speaking out against injustice, combating stereotypes, showing solidarity: sometimes, 6th grade can seem like the start of everything at once!

A young girl learns about great-souled women and adopts them as models: Rosa Parks, Simone Veil, Emma Gonzalez... Her own struggles echo issues of gender equality among adults.

First volume of Salomé et les femmes de parole (Salomé and the Women of Their Word).
