A children's pop-up book for discovering the nature's greatest hits: volcanoes, rivers, the ocean floor, the coral reef!

"Kid Nonfic" is a large format series to help children learn about worlds beyond their doorstep and even in their imagination. Their 14 two-page spreads are rich with interactive activities: questions and answers, pop-ups, challenges, and explanations. Didier Balicevic is renowned for his illustrations whose accurate line and vivid colors make learning fun. This volume, "Nature," provides an opportunity for young readers to discover the ocean floor, understand why volcanoes erupt, identify species living in the Amazon rainforest, and figure out what makes a tree grow.
