Meet Marius (and his hilarious geese!) and learn how to build an eco-friendly house!

It's fall. Marius has just moved to the countryside. He wants to make his small house both comfortable and environmentally friendly. But he's off to a rough start! The boiler's broken, and he can't fix it! Surely his neighbor Anemone, who works on a big farm with big machines, can help him? Meanwhile, he'll use straw to protect his house from the cold – much like a coat! As the seasons pass, a quirky, unlikely friendship blossoms between two people from different worlds: the neo-rural whose ideas are confronted with reality, and the farmer who passes on her knowledge while testing out new solutions!
