"They're tiny, gray, and square-shaped. Don't be scared, come closer! Shut your eyes and then you'll see... up close! That's them! That's Love!"

Where is Love? What do they look like? Where are they headed? Over the course of its colorful pages, this delectably poetic little picture book unveils the great mystery of love, the diversity of its forms and feelings, making us reflect on our emotions even as it amuses and astonishes us. Best of all, it teaches us how to look for love, that funny little character, where we least expect them! Benjamin Chaud's illustrations are bursting with a thousand funny details, mischievously complementing Ramona Bădescu subtle words.
