A short, entertaining story that teaches kids about all different professions!

"So, what do you want to be when you're big?" As a kid, any family occasion without a question like this is the exception rather than the rule. But, at such a young age, it can be hard to know what to say. In this short, tenderly illustrated tale, children discover all sorts of different jobs from the world around them. "So, what do you want to do in the future? Be a teacher like Zoey or a policeman like Mathias? Or maybe a doctor to help patients? What is your dream?"
