A daring, merciless, pulse-pounding thriller set in the intimate, mysterious world of massage parlors.

At Monsieur Victor's massage parlor on Rue de Courcelles, Waan seems to be the favorite. Is it because he watched her grow up?

Mr. Victor spared Waan the tragic end girls like her meet with in Thailand, and she is grateful. But such protection has its price, and while the setting where she plies her trade today is nothing like Chiang Rai's miserable back alleys, Waan still worries.

There is, after all, the Minister who harasses her with questions and the reporter whose visits she awaits. And above all, there are the silences of Mr. Victor, who seems to be hiding his past behind his parlor's wall hangings. Waan wants to run away from it all. But can she really afford to do so?
