This striking novel in verse tackles a complex subject with great nuance.

Adèle loves Nilo, Nilo loves Adèle. Things between them are sweet and easy. They're the perfect couple. So when two lines appear on the pregnancy test, there shouldn't be a problem... right? Everything always works out when you're in love, doesn't it? A heroine torn between her lover, the silence of her family and best friend, and society's commandments. When Adèle is faced with a difficult decision that will forever change her life, will she find the time listen to her own heart?
