Like a sociologist, Fabrice Erre observes our daily lives as contemporary humans.

Do you feel followed? Listened to? Do you have suspicions about your networked fork or even your smart toilet paper? You're right to, and Fabrice Erre won't tell you otherwise!

Today, as the first doctoral student specializing in kitten videos on TikTok, the author continues his sociological study of the behaviors linked to new technologies increasingly ubiquitous in our daily lives, in a second volume even funnier and more cynical than the first.
