Cybele Gardens—such a lovely name for a place that welcomes people bereft of hope, damaged by life and unable to get back on their feet.

One such lost soul is Valérie, who is trying to recover from burnout. Another is Anna, whose daughter recently passed away. Not far from the Gardens, Charline manages her own tearoom. She's a great cook and a lively individual, though life has been far from kind to her. When Valérie and Anna discover that Charline has leukemia, they decide to rent a house by the sea for a few days. These precious moments will strengthen their bonds and heal their wounds.
