The inspiring journey of an anorexic teen who, with help from her loved ones, found the strength to accept her own body.

Julie-Anne was 15 when her parents dropped her off at a teen psychiatric hospital. Anorexic, she was too weak to lead the life of a young girl her age in the outside world. She had to gain 15 pounds before she could be discharged and rejoin her family. A long journey began for her, "imprisoned" in a hospital. Things there took a lot of getting used to, but despite it all, she had to find a way to have fun. What she found was a new meaning to life, thanks to the people she met, conversations with her best friend, and... unexpected passion.
