A book for teaching children age 10 and up that it's still possible to consume differently and protect the planet!

This guide shows children how to resist the temptations of brands, how to consume responsibly, and... why not? how to become an anti-overconsumption activist while they're at it! Written by Emmanuelle Vibert, a journalist specializing in global change, responsible consumption, and the environment, it has pictures by Dume, illustrator of the first book in the "Stop the Manipulation!" series devoted to educating citizens about fake news and media literacy.
