In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, networks of mobility are being reorganized.

Travel isn't slowing down—far from it! In fact, the world as we know it keeps evolving toward ever more movement and exchange. From human-powered propulsion and ecomobility to globalized exchanges and information flux, Xavier Bernier invites us to reflect on the cartography of movement. Featuring over 100 maps and documents, this atlas provides a visualization of mobility in all its aspects to better shed light on this fundamental topic in a context of ecological transition.
