Philosophy's core concepts, told in comic book form.

For the first time, a comic book publisher—La Boîte à Bulles—and a textbook publisher—Belin Éducation—have come together to create a new series aimed at both high school students and the general public. Each volume tackles a core concept of philosophy (truth, art, freedom, nature, technology, justice, religion, etc.) using concrete examples, myths, and illustrations. The philosophy requirement for France's Terminale technology option (final pre-University year) is covered in 7 booklets.
