The musical story of famous pianist Clara Schumann, a passionate woman in a male-dominated world.

Leipzig, 1825: crystalline music fills the large living room of the Wieck family home. Who could be playing this tune so early in the morning? It is Miss Clara, a tiny five-year-old girl sitting at the grand piano. For the first time, the Great Classical Composers series pays tribute to a female composer: Clara Schumann. We discover the child prodigy, the concert pianist who traveled Europe with her father, Robert's lover and then wife, the composer and teacher. A poetic, sensitive, and romantic musical biography.
