One day, somewhere, a woman stood up and said no. This beautiful book pays tribute to all those who advanced the cause of women and pushed back inequality.

Harriet Tubman freed 70 slaves. Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat. Malala Yousafzai defied the Taliban. Iranian women challenged the mullahs. Phoolan Devi was nicknamed the "Indian Robin Hood." They all chose the path of revolt, sometimes risking their lives or freedom. Why, and how? This book tells the story of 50 ordinary women with extraordinary destinies. A story that continues to be written today, with more strength than ever.
